

PENSION AWARENESS 2023

Take charge of your pension

It's that time of year again, yes, Pension Awareness is back. Bigger than ever. Better than before. And it's been a decade of difference. 2023 marks the tenth anniversary of Pension Awareness, and this year's iteration runs from the 11th-15th September.

What if I said you could get to know your pension better than ever and prepare for the future you want? All in the simplest way, too.

The brainchild of Pension Geeks (champions of all that is retirement), Pension Awareness sets up a week of online live shows that break down the most jargon-juiced topics and confusing questions into bite-sized chunks. You'll be eating pensions for breakfast come September.

Alongside the live shows are a host of articles, videos, and resources. You'll have an arsenal of knowledge covering the State Pension, contributions, combining multiple pension pots, and how to eventually take your hard-earned money. And that's just the tip of the iceberg.

Because it doesn't stop with pensions. Oh no. Pension Awareness has evolved into an all-encompassing ensemble event. Financial wellbeing, budgeting, mindful money, you name it; we got it. Within reason.

Pension Awareness kicks off on Monday 11th September, and you can bet it's gonna be a good one. It's free to attend and absolutely everyone is welcome!

To find out more, jump onto our website. Here, you'll easily be able to register for as many live online shows as you like from the end of July. Plus, you can surf across a trove of articles and videos or catch up on last year's event via on-demand streaming.

#PAD23